COMPLIANCE OPTIMIZATION & MONITOR PERFORMANCE ACCURACY SERVICE

PART 60 HARMONIZATION EVALUATION SERVICE

The Compliance Optimization & Monitor Performance Accuracy Service (COMPAS) program was developed to assist you in your air compliance needs. An important new offering for 2008 in the COMPAS suite of services is the Part 60 Harmonization Evaluation Service. The objective of this service is to assist you in complying with the recent changes to the monitoring and QA/QC requirements in the New Source Performance Standards by evaluating the impact of the rulemaking on your facility. The VIM COMPAS group has studied this rulemaking in detail, has worked with personnel at both the EPA's Clean Air Markets Division and the Office of Air Quality Planning & Standards. From extensive discussions with both agencies, as well as research into the docket documents, the COMPAS team has gained an understanding of not only the "letter of the law," but the rule's intent, as well.

Do you believe that your source is already compliant with the new rule simply because you're an existing source? Do you understand how the changes in the data validity rules affect your reporting? Will the optional QA/QC provisions be helpful to you, or will they be a detriment to you? Are all of your analyzers eligible to use all of the new provisions? Don't make a mistake when implementing the new rule because you don't know its intricacies - let the COMPAS team evaluate the rule for you, evaluate your options, and create an implementation plan for you.

Working with select information about your facility, we will evaluate the options available to you under the new rule, and describe the benefits and costs for each option. We can then work with you to implement the changes that are needed, whether you use a VIM data acquisition system or another vendor's software.

Alone or combined with the other COMPAS offerings, COMPAS is a "win-win" partnership for you and for the VIM Technologies, Inc. staff, which is here to support you. COMPAS allows you to maximize your time, resulting in higher quality results without the pressure of having to know the details of the regulations. COMPAS gets you there – accurately and on time. COMPAS has been designed to offer a comprehensive support program that is tailored to meet your specific needs when the need arises. No matter which program you choose, you are supported and the extent of that support is fully in your control.
